

Boys and Girls Clubs To Be Entertained

A supper will be given at the Knox United Church basement on Friday evening at which the business men and farmers will entertain the boys and girls of the district who are interested in the Boys and Girls Club.

The object of the meeting to follow the supper will be to further organize the club and also launch a board of trade to foster these clubs.

A Dairy Calf Club has already been organized and it is proposed to extend the club to include a Beef Calf Club and a Pig Club. If these clubs can be organized we understand that the government will supply a man for the district to give the boys and girls instruction along these lines.

Professor Elliott, principal of the Veroillon School of Agriculture will be present and outline the organization of the club.

Each business man or farmer present will be expected to entertain a boy or girl who is interested, as his guest to the supper.

Hospital Meeting.

The annual meeting of the Hospital board was held Monday afternoon at the office of the secretary, all members being present.

Mr. W. J. McJoy was re-elected chairman and Mr. Alex Hogg vice-chairman.

The annual statement was read, and after some discussion, adopted.

Messrs. McCoy, Gooder and Bruce were appointed to purchase a refrigerator, which is badly needed at the Hospital and towards which certain funds had been raised.

Some discussion took place in respect to hospital fees and it was decided to reduce the case-room fee from $4.00 and $1.50 to a flat-rate of $3.00.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hyde returned from a vacation at the coast on Saturday.

Splendid Lecture by Magistrate Scott

There was a large attendance at the lecture on "The Crisis in Europe" given by Magistrate Scott, of Calgary, at the Knox United Church on Tuesday evening.

Mr. W. A. Austin introduced the speaker.

Mr. Scott gave a vivid description of the conditions that now prevail in the different countries in Europe and spoke of the policies of the various governments, which tend to make the situation very tense, especially near the borders of the various states. He cited incidents that had occurred under his own observation while travelling in Europe last autumn and previous years.

The speaker proved to be a deep student of European affairs and his lecture was very instructive. He was accorded a hearty vote of thanks.

Musical numbers were rendered by a trio consisting Miss Evelyn Liesemer, cello, Mr. J. Boorman violin, and Mrs. J. Boorman, piano which were very acceptable.

Celebrate Vimy Day

The local branch of the Canadian Legion celebrated Vimy Day with a social evening.

Cards were played from 9 to 11 and the honors were won by Mrs. Farrant and Mr. Hogg.

During the intermission Mr. E. Craig gave a brief resume of the attack at Vimy Ridge 17 years ago which brought back a lot of old memories to the boys.

Dancing was enjoyed during the balance of the evening to music supplied by Haliday's Orchestra.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank all our kind neighbors and friends for their many kindnesses and expressions of sympathy during our recent bereavement. Also for the many floral tributes.

Obituary.

ELMER O. WAIT.

Didsbury lost another of its early settlers with the passing away of Mr. Elmer O. Wait, who died in Calgary on Saturday afternoon, April 7th, after an illness of several months.

Elmer Orchan Wait was born at Washington, Ont., Oct. 28th, 1873. He was married in 1899 at Astor, Ont., to Miss Mary Seibel. After their marriage they lived in Ontario for about a year and then moved to Didsbury in 1900.

The country around Didsbury was then in the earlier stages of development and they homesteaded about 6 miles southeast of town. He lived on his homestead up to the time of his death and did his full share in helping to develop this country from the raw prairie into a prosperous farming district.

Mr. Wait was always interested in livestock and was one of the leaders in the raising of purebred Shorthorn cattle.

He was one of the organizers of the Didsbury Agricultural Society and has been a director of the association since its inception. He was a constant exhibitor of livestock both at the local fair and at the Calgary spring show.

He was also one of the organizers of the Grand Centre school district and acted as secretary of that district from its organization up to about three years ago.

During his long residence in this community he acquired a large number of friends and he was highly respected throughout the district. His loss will be deeply regretted by all.

Predeceased by his wife three years ago he leaves to mourn his loss: one daughter, Mrs. C. G. Martin, Calgary; one son, Harry W. of Didsbury, and four grandchildren. Also two sisters, Mrs. H. Warner of Crossfield, and Mrs. W. J. Elliott, of Woodstock, Ont., and one brother George, of Calgary.

The funeral services were held at Knox United Church, Rev. A. J. Mitchell conducting the service. The ceremony at the graveside was taken by the King Hiram Masonic Lodge, of which the deceased was a member. Rev. W. B. S. McCracken, of Calgary, officiated.

The pallbearers, all past-masters of King Hiram Lodge, were Messrs. A. Bruso, J. McDougall, G. H. Liesemer, A. V. Buckler, E. Craig, and A. L. McViney.

Boys' Band Entertains at Banquet.

The members of the Boys' Band entertained their parents and friends to a banquet at the Knox Church on Friday evening.

About 125 persons sat down to a sumptuous repast, after which several toasts were proposed.

Rev. A. J. Mitchell proposed the toast, "to the Band," to which he coupled the name of the Director, Dr. H. C. Liesemer. He spoke of the good effect music had on a community, and being Scotch he could not refrain from eulogizing the pipes and pipers. He complimented both the boys and the director on the splendid progress that had been made during the few months they had been organized. He said that the band was particularly fortunate in having such a capable director as Dr. Liesemer, who was willing to give so much of his time to the band.

Mr. Ernest Clarke replied on behalf of the band, and Dr. Liesemer thanked the proposer of the toast for his complimentary remarks and said that while he was the Director, much credit was due to his assistants Messrs. T. Sharman, C. R. Ford, A. Russell and A. Reiber, who help in instructing the different sections of the band.

Mr. C. R. Ford proposed the toast "to the Parents," and urged them to give the boys all the encouragement possible.

Dr. Clarke in replying on behalf of the parents, said that the parents were 100 per cent behind the Band and he asked the boys not only to attend the band practices and pay strict attention to their director, but also keep up their practice at home.

Mayor Chambers spoke on behalf of the Town Council, saying that they were very proud of the Band, and that the Town had been pleased to give the band assistance, and in future would give every support possible.

The Director stated that the Band intended to give a concert in the near future, and that it was also their intention to give open-air concerts on Saturday nights during the summer. Arrangements had also been made to give a performance over the radio.

After the banquet the Band played a few selections in the Church. They played the first march they had learned and compared it with the music they are playing today.

Celebrate 42nd Wedding Anniversary

About 60 people gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. Blain, of Elkton, on Friday evening to celebrate the 42nd anniversary of their marriage. It was also the occasion of Mrs. Blain's birthday.

Three tables were loaded with good things, and a silver wedding cake made by Mrs. Bennett, Mrs. Banting and Mrs. Campbell, occupied the principal position.

Ten children, 7 sons and 3 daughters, together with 7 grandchildren, were all present at the celebration.

Mr. and Mrs. Blain were presented with a silver bowl and silver servers by the people of the community, and they were recipients of many other gifts.

All present offered their congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Blain, together with their wishes for many more years of happy married life.

The World's Great Handicap

In an address delivered recently at Watrous, Sask., Professor Swanson of the University of Saskatchewan, said he could see signs on the horizon of a return to economic sanity, but "fear is in the way." He said: "International fear, political fear, biological fear, fear of Japan, economic fear, life is overshadowed and overclouded with fear. The time has now arrived," he added, "to take place of leadership in our country, in overcoming these fears. On the Western plains there is no place for this fear."

Then in the United States we have Bruce Barton, one of the most observant and sanest writers of the day, pointing out that the economists seem pretty well agreed that the bottom of the depression has been reached and passed and that business is fundamentally better all over the world, while of his own country he says it is now in the position of a sick man on his way back to health; that while a great many medicines are being applied, some of which probably help the patient's recovery and some of which hurt, the important fact is that health is returning, and that the country can stand a considerable dose of patent medicines without permanent harm, and that when the country is really healthy it will throw the patent medicine bottles out of the window, discharge the most radical doctors, and go on its way.

Bruce Barton, however, points to two very important things for people to remember and heed. It is, he says, very important to keep an open mind. Things never again are going to be the same as they were; on the other hand, they are not going to be so entirely different as some enthusiastic people would have us believe. It is, he says, no sighing for the return of the good old days; it is even less useful to assume that all the past was bad and must be discarded. His advice is: "Keep moderate; keep flexible."

Most important, says Bruce Barton, "fight all fear," and he urges that the words of Thoreau be placed where they can be seen every day: "Nothing is so much to be feared as fear. The sin that God hates is fear; He thinks atheism innocent in comparison."

It is undeniably true that fear is the great obstacle to a return to more normal conditions throughout the world. It is fear that prevents disarmament and continues to impose upon the taxpayers of the nations the crushing burden of huge armies, navies, air fleets, and the whole complicated paraphernalia of war establishments. It is fear that leads nations to erect hostile tariffs against the goods and products of other nations. It is fear that is keeping untold millions of money locked up instead of it coursing through all the channels of business and providing work and wages for countless thousands at present unemployed. It is fear that is distorting the minds of people and making them the easy victims of others who preach the gospel of discontent and despair.

Fear never makes for progress. Being destructive of constructive thought and initiative, it acts as a brake on progress, preventing the launching of new enterprises, discouraging expansion and further developments. Through the engendering of timidity and lack of self-confidence, fear leads man to withdraw into himself and behind isolation protective devices wherein he cowers but does nothing else. In a word, fear makes him a coward with a coward's outlook on life and its responsibilities.

It is the future of which most people appear to be fearful. They decline to recognize and accept the lessons and experiences of the past as having any bearing upon or offering any guide for the problems and experiences of the present. Instead, in their fear, they say present difficulties are different from anything ever before known, and consequently neither they nor any other person or persons know what to do or what ought to be done.

So, in their fear, they will not take action which would not only accomplish something but would inspire others to action, and the cumulative effect of which would be a solving of difficulties. Work would be provided for hundreds and thousands of people now idle if others having some reserves would take their courage in their hands and proceed to have this, that or the other little job done which demands attention. But, no, they will not venture even a small expenditure and thus they retard progress and help to perpetuate a condition of things which, if continued, will mean their own ruin.

Wise parents seek to overcome fear on the part of their children. They do so judiciously but persistently because they realize that the obsession of fear is the greatest possible handicap in life. Wise leaders of the Canadian people in all walks of life should join forces in waging war on fear which now possesses so many, and they should join battle with those who are engaged in capitalizing fear as an agency in the advancement of feelings of economic despair.

Producing Poultry Meat

Experiments at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, have shown that it takes 28½ pounds of mixed grain to grow Barred Rock cockerels, but only 17½ pounds of mixed grain to grow twenty-six weeks of age, weighing in average of 6.6 pounds. That is, with a good class of Barred Rock chickens, 1½ pounds of grain can be converted into one pound of meat. The lighter breeds consume an average of six pounds of feed for each pound of gain in meat.

Household Drudgery The Bane of a Woman's Life

Nature intended women to be strong and healthy instead of weak and sickly, but how can a woman have good health when she has to go through the household drudgery without any relaxation. Let any woman who becomes nervous and irritable, has bad flukes, faint and dizzy spells, shortness of breath, sinking and smothering sensations, and can't sleep at night.

Women who are weak and run down will find in Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a remedy to strengthen the system and bring back the much desired health.

Unsinkable Lifeboats

Many Devices Used Make Them Expensive To Build

"Wonder-boats" is a description that has possibly not yet been applied to the craft of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, yet it is not inappropriate. In the Institution's fleet are boats that can free themselves of water as rapidly as it comes on board. They can keep afloat when every one of the watertight compartments has been damaged and open to the sea.

If capsized they can right themselves and empty out all water in 25 seconds, and in the case of motor-propelled boats, continue running when the engine-room is flooded.

It was given these facts when I talked to Lieut.-Colonel C. R. Satterthwaite, secretary of the Royal National Lifeboat Institution, about the boats that during the last few days have saved many lives from the fury of the easterly gales, states a London newspaper special representative. I also learned how it is that a boat full of water can immediately empty itself.

"On the bottom of most boats in our fleet and on the sides of some of the latest models," said Colonel Satterthwaite, "are relieving valves or scuppers. These only allow the water to pass one way. As fast as the sea fills the cockpit of a lifeboat it is automatically emptied out at the bottom or sides. That is perhaps not the most remarkable feature of lifeboat construction."

"Not many people know that a lifeboat can have twenty holes knocked in each side, and yet still be able to go on with its work. This is due to the fact that a lifeboat is divided into from seven to fourteen watertight compartments, and has from 70 to 150 air-cases. These air-cases made her practically unsinkable, and a boat can be kept afloat by these even when each of the watertight compartments is open to the water. In view of these devices it is hardly surprising, perhaps, that the modern motor lifeboat costs from £3,500 to £9,000."

Wingless Rooster In Smithsonian Institute

Only Case Known To Science Where Such A Bird Has Lived

A wingless rooster recently received by the Smithsonian Institution has defied precedents established by fowls that have been hatched without wings heretofore by living to grow into healthy adulthood minus the customary appendages. In all other such cases known to science the wingless birds have died while still young chicks.

The present specimen was found in the flock of Mrs. Olof Dering of Seattle, Wash., who sent it to the institution. Its behavior seems to be normal in most ways, but it is afraid to make jumps that would not bother an ordinary chicken. It hesitates a long time, for instance, before jumping from a table to the floor to obtain food, even when it is very hungry.

Apricot Custard Tarts

- 1 cup sugar
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 2 egg yolks
- 2 cup mashed steamed apricots
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1 tablespoon Benson's Corn Starch
- 1 cup scalded milk
- 1 teaspoon vanilla
- 2 tablespoons sugar
- 2 egg whites

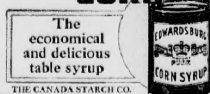

Mix and stir together the first quantity of sugar, salt and corn starch, then gradually add hot milk and cook in double boiler until thickened. Add well beaten yolks and cook for a minute longer. Stir in the vanilla and lemon. Pour the mixture into previously baked tart shells and cover with meringue made by adding the cold steamed apricots mixed with the second quantity of sugar and the egg whites. Bake the stiffly beaten whites of the eggs, and beating until the mixture holds its shape. Bake slightly in a rather hot oven.

Fruit For Drought Areas

Forty-four cartloads of fruit and vegetables have been supplied by growers of the Okanagan Valley to drought-stricken districts on the prairies. Twelve hundred boxes of McIntosh were taken from common storage at Penticton and shipped to Manitoba, Sask.

In Times Of Emergency

Central Bank May Not Have Elasticity Of Finance Act

Present and future ministers of finance will have a fairly rigid advisory body to "aid" them when the new Central Bank is established and operating. But those of them who are individuals may find, in moments of crisis, that the central bank will hamper them in working out the best solutions of emergency situations.

During the war, Sir Thomas White gave Canada's affairs a financial direction that was masterly. He sought and obtained advice from the best possible sources but having no permanent advisory body to bother him he was not tied down to conformity to their prejudices and red tape.

Likewise, the Finance Act today has an elasticity about it that greatly helps the Minister of Finance in meeting the country's financial problems.

There is a classic story about the Westerner who when Sir Sam Hughes offered a commission. The war minister asked this man if he wanted to join the infantry or the cavalry. The reply was "The infantry. When we get into trouble I don't want to be hampered with no horse."

In days to come many a finance minister, facing conditions such as these exist today, may wish that he were not hampered by "no horse."—Financial Post.

Migration To Old Country

Said To Be Healthy Sign Of Economic Conditions

Immigrants throughout the world are going back to the "Old Country," the International Labor office at Geneva reported, but said this was a healthy sign of economic conditions. Migration figures indicate the return to more normal conditions, the report asserted, while the most recent statistics show signs of improvement in different parts of the world.

The population of the Soviet Union is about 140 millions more than that of Continental United States.

Act May Be Revised

Amendment Of Canadian Constitution Is Now Under Consideration

Revision of the Canadian Constitution to bring it into harmony with present-day conditions is under consideration by the federal authorities. Tremendous changes in the business and social life of the Dominion have occurred since the British North America Act was drafted and while Sir John A. Macdonald and the other Fathers of Confederation are rated among the greatest statesmen the country has produced, it is now recognized they could not foresee all the developments of the last half century or more.

There are many ways in which the federal and provincial jurisdictions apparently clash, including radio, aviation, insurance, companies acts and other matters which were not contemplated when the B.N.A. Act was framed.

Amending the constitution, if it comes, will be brought about by an address of both Houses of the Parliament of Canada to the Parliament of the United Kingdom. Consent of the provinces is not absolutely necessary, but the government of Canada would hesitate to seek changes without the consent of the provinces.

Revision of the constitution would be a task requiring considerable study, and it is suggested here that the matter might very well be referred to a special committee of the senate, which is singularly well equipped with legal talent.

Executive of Millers' Association Says Better Quality Of Grain Is Grown In Southern Districts

A major matter for consideration in connection with Canadian wheat marketing problem is the question of grading, stated C. H. G. Street, honorary president of the Canadian National Millers' association, upon his return to Montreal from a visit to Western Canada.

For a long while, he said, "the southern farmer has been carrying the northern farmer up his back. Wheat from the northern territories of lesser quality should be graded on its merits and the southern farmer should receive for his superior quality a premium in price above that received by the farmer in northern areas."

Overall average quality of Canadian wheat was materially reduced by the lower grades from the northern areas, which primarily resulted, Mr. Street said, from the variety of lesser quality and earlier ripening wheats shown, notably Gaiety.

Either the lesser variety of wheats should be rejected, which is the policy the Argentine evidently intends to pursue, or they should be graded separately and sold on their relative values, in order that Canadian's previously high standard quality grades shall not continue to be impeded but shall be rehabilitated to maintain their wide margin of world's superiority," Mr. Street said.

If such a method of grading were adopted and as a result the northern farmers discovered that the continuance of growing of such wheats proved unremunerative, it would drive them into other and more remunerative types of farming, he said. This would automatically help to bring about desired reductions of wheat acreage, and, at the same time, automatically ensure the raising of the average level of the Canadian crop.

No Statistics Available

No Reliable Knowledge Of World Wheat Acreages

"At the outset, it must be stated that a complete conception of world wheat acreage is impossible, because no statistics are available for a few large producing areas and for many smaller countries," said Dr. T. W. Grimbley, chief, Agricultural Branch, Dominion Bureau of Statistics, in discussing the lack of reliable statistics that would be gathered at a wheat acreage at the World's Grain Conference, China, of course, is an outstanding example of a country of which we have no reliable knowledge of crop acreages. By some authorities, China is rated as the world's largest wheat-producing country but since her yield per acre is raised very high by intensive methods, it is probable that her wheat acreage is less than in Russia or the United States, and perhaps India. The other countries of possible importance in wheat-growing which have no reliable statistics that would be gathered in a study of trends are two South American countries, Ecuador and Venezuela; Albania in Europe; Abyssinia in Africa; and Persia, Arabia, and Afghanistan in Asia. The Food Research Institute calculates that the highest current estimates of the world wheat production cover only about 80 per cent, more or less of the wheat actually produced in the world.

Drifted Thousand Miles

A bell and button hat which drifted from its station at Cape Breton, Nova Scotia, in November of 1928, has been found beached on Turks Island, according to word reaching the department of marine agency at St. John's, New Brunswick. In five years the buoy drifted at least a thousand miles. It will be returned to Canada and replaced in service.

Moving Victoria Memorial

Column To Be Placed At Entrance To Warwick Gardens

The Queen Victoria memorial column in Kensington High street is shortly to be moved to the large open space at the entrance to Warwick Gardens, says the News of the World. This step has become necessary because of the great increase of the traffic on the main road westward out of London. The memorial was erected by public subscription outside the main entrance to St. Mary Abbott's church in 1901. St. Mary's is one of the few important churches in England where there is a clock without a face. Passers-by are obliged to hear the clock chime and strike the hours, while they look in vain for the face and hands.

Millers Require Hard Canadian Wheat To Mix With Softer Grades

Speaking of the wheat situation from an importer's point of view, Mr. G. J. S. Broomhall, the international wheat trade expert, told the Regina conference that it might perhaps be emphasized that wheat growers are still in a favoured position, in that they can put on the market the most valued foodstuff of civilized man. And in this matter Canadians were particularly fortunate, for they grow wheat that is desired by millers in all countries. It was true that millers do not, and indeed cannot, buy Canadian strong wheats, because many countries in Europe, and once outside Europe, had imposed such high duties and milling restrictions that Canadian and other overseas wheats are effectively excluded. Yet that did not alter the fact that millers want Canadian wheat, especially when they are compelled to mill a very high per centage of soft native wheat.

Jersey Cattle In Alberta

Province Ranks Fourth In Total Registration For Canada

Gratifying growth in herds and in production of Jersey cattle and milk in Alberta during the past year were reported to the annual meeting of the Southern Alberta Jersey Cattle Club by W. T. Hunter of Vernon, western field representative of the Canadian Jersey Cattle Club. He referred to a marked increase in demand for Jersey milk, not only in Western Canada, but throughout the Dominion. During the past eighteen months, Hunter said, 300 Jersey cows were brought into Edmonton and Calgary districts, most of them from British Columbia. Alberta now ranks fourth in the Dominion in total registration and transfers of Jersey cattle. Ontario, Quebec and British Columbia leading in that order.

Success With Clover

Young Saskatchewan Farmer Wins Several Awards

Louie Wendel, a young farmer living south of Neudorf, Sask., has achieved considerable success in showing sweet clover at the different grain shows during the past year. He obtained the following standings in this class of grain: At Regina World Grain show, 2nd prize; at Chicago, 7th prize; at Saskatoon, 1st prize and also special prize, which gave him possession of the Danforth cup. At all these shows he had the highest standing of any entrant from Saskatchewan in this class of grain. At the present time he is specializing in the growing of barley and expects to come to the front in this class of grain in the near future.

FAMOUS RAILWAY DOG RETIRES

Canadians who in their journeys through London have been in Euston Station, will remember "Victor," the famous dog that used to take up passengers with a collecting box on his back. Victor, after collecting almost $12,000 for charity, during his six and one-half years in the station, has retired. His place has been taken by "Jack," a two-year-old curly coated retriever, that hopes to carry on the good work. Our petrie shows Victor (left), mournfully contemplating his retirement, while Jack happily leaps forward to a busy future.

Declares Present Is No Time For Canada To Embark On Scheme To Attract Immigrants

History Of Canadian Wool Grading

Principle Has Now Become General Among Sheep Raisers

The present-day high quality of Canadian wool is due in the main part to grading which was started by the Live Stock Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture in 1913. At that time the care taken in the growing, shearing, preparation for market, and marketing was such that Canadian wools were discredited not only in the home market but in foreign markets as well. Graded wool easily sold at higher values than ungraded, and on this account the efforts of the government officials were soon crowned with success. Grading became very popular in a short time and at first was performed locally, often at a number of points within a province. These grading centres not only acted as marketing centres for the graded wools, but also served as an excellent medium for farmers in ascertaining the relative market value of the various wool grades and the necessity of putting up the wool in proper shape for market.

When the local organization was completed, and a knowledge of the wool grading principle became general among sheep raisers, it was thought best to establish the co-operative marketing and sale of wool on a purely commercial basis, and in 1918 representatives of the various associations met in conference and organized the Canadian Co-operative Wool Growers, Ltd., an organization with which are now affiliated some thirty local wool growers' associations. The headquarters at Toronto now acts in co-operation with the various associations in arranging for the collecting and forwarding of wools consigned for grading and co-operative sale. It also acts as selling agents for such wools for all the associations affiliated with it. The Dominion Live Stock Branch still assumes responsibility for the wool grade standards and provides official wool graders for the grading of co-operative shipments.

Old Tradition Upset

An ancient tradition of Scottish agriculture has been upset by an order from Glasgow for a curfew of Alberta's Scotchman horses. Clydesdales are "the horses" of Scotland, but dockyard authorities at Glasgow have tried out Percherons brought in from France and finding them more suitable for their special work, have placed the Canadian order.

There is no time for Canada to embark on a grandiose scheme to attract immigrants, the house of commons was advised by Hon. Wesley Gordon, minister of immigration. And his views were shared by James S. Woodsworth, leader of the C.C.F., and Hon. Charles Stewart, a former federal minister of immigration.

"I think the time will come," said Mr. Gordon, "when this country will again be sufficiently attractive to that many more hundreds of thousands of people will come here from the United Kingdom." But present conditions did not warrant a lowering of the immigration bars.

The name of Brig-Gen. W. L. Hornby, of Lethbridge, Alta., loomed large in the discussion as estimates of the department were under consideration. No concrete plan to bring British settlers to Canada had been placed before him by Brig-Gen. Hornby in the two discussions he had with him, said the minister. He had not encouraged Brig-Gen. Hornby to approach provincial governments on British immigration. Members told the house of receiving pamphlets on the reported Hornby scheme to bring British settlers into the country.

John Vallance (Lab., South Battleford) introduced the subject and said he understood Brig-Gen. Hornby was proposing a settlement of British settlers in a part of his constituency. The minister replied he had not heard of this action.

To Hon. Ian MacKenzie (Lab., Vancouver Centre), the minister said he had no plan to further British immigration had been suggested to Canada by the British government.

Hon. D. M. Sutherland, minister of national defence, had been solicited by Brig-Gen. Hornby for support of his settlement plan. He (Col. Sutherland) considered Brig-Gen. Hornby much of a "visionary".

Assistance For The Blind

May Take Form Along The Line Of Old Age Pensions

Hopes that if Canada makes a speedy economic recovery, action may be taken soon to provide financial assistance to the blind along the line of old age pensions, was held out by Prime Minister E. B. Bennett in the house of commons.

During consideration of the miscellaneous estimates, the discussion arose over an item granting assistance to two blind institutions in Montreal. The prime minister said that some of the provinces had enacted legislation providing for their participation in a scheme which would give old age pensions to blind on reaching the age of 40. No uniformity had as yet been attained, the prime minister said, but he intimated nothing but a speedy agency was delaying action in this respect. Dr. G. D. Stacey (Cons., Calgary) stated, urged that the government purchasing agents make as much use as possible of articles manufactured in blind institutions. The prime minister said he believed everything that might be done to help the blind in this way would be done.

Fasted For Health

C. J. Wright, 65-year-old grocer of Roswell, New Mexico, has ideas of his own about how to cure a stubborn case of catarrh. Wright fasted 30 days, during which time he declared his catarrh not only disappeared but his general health was improved. After studying the matter for many years Wright says he is convinced that most bodily ailments are cured by overeating.

Faithful To Damages

A baker at Neudorf is endeavoring to obtain damages from a customer who used one of his plum puddings as a dog toy. The baker had just baked a magnificent pudding and put it on the shop-top to end when a short-sighted customer arrived. Misreading the plum pudding for a round dog, he began to bite and rip it. The baker was so angry that he began to cry and it was only when it was taken to the shop that he recovered.

Raise More Oats and Barley

In a recent issue of the Calgary Herald the suggestion was made that an extension of the acreage sown to barley and oats in Alberta might reasonably provide for a reduction in the wheat acreage sufficient to satisfy the requirements of the international wheat agreement. This suggestion appears to be a reasonable one and well worthy of consideration.

Oats and barley are the basis of livestock feeding throughout the province, and there does not seem to be any great surplus of these grains. An increase in their production would certainly not affect international markets to any appreciable extent, and a very convenient reserve of feed would be established on the country's farms. Only too many of our farmers have badly needed feed on many occasions.

The problem of idle acres is one inextricably bound up with that of restricting wheat production. What can a farmer do with land taken out of cultivation, is a question that is puzzling many. The raising of a reasonable acreage of coarse grains seems to be the answer.

How Pure is Your Seed?

Over fifteen-hundred samples of wheat taken from farmers' wagonloads as hauled to country elevators have been tested for purity at the Dominion Experimental Station at Scott, Sask., during the past three years. Results reveal that only 23 per cent. of the samples were pure enough to be used as seed and that there was at least some good seed of a suitable variety in most districts.

An examination of the plots on which the tests were made disclosed some facts worthy of mention. To the farmer the nature of the contrast between the impurity and the main variety is very important in maintaining purity. This was amply demonstrated in the tests. Several conscientious growers were surprised to hear of impurities in their grain, the chief reason being the failure of the farmer to recognize the difference between the impurity and the main variety. It was found that the longer a variety was in commercial use the more impurities were present. About 40 per cent. of the samples contained admixtures of off-types to the extent that they predominated. While the individual growing inferior seed could in many cases increase his returns by obtaining better seed, it is encouraging to note that the progeny of seed distributed as registered stocks during the past few years is of a good type and maintaining its purity well.

Wheat is the principal export product of the prairie provinces and is meeting with keen competition in the world markets. Hence every grower should do his part in maintaining a high standard of quality. Since admixtures of inferior varieties lower the quality of wheat it is important to grow only pure seed of recommended varieties.

Plans are completed to test the purity of farmers' seed on a much wider scale than previously conducted.

Jr. Red Cross Benefits by Melvin Program

Many residents from Melvin and for many miles around the district turned out to do their bit and help swell the funds of the Junior Red Cross program sponsored by Melvin School District at the school on Friday evening.

Mr. Austin, local secretary for the Junior Red Cross, gave an interesting talk on this organization's daily work, which was greatly appreciated by everyone present. (Thanks, Mr. Austin.)

Pupils of this school, under the able direction of their teacher, Miss Hazel Ray, gave three creditable sketches. These children deserved all the congratulations and applause given them.

A vote of thanks is now given Mr. J. W. Phillips for his part in conducting the miscellaneous sale. He sure put it across in fine style. (Thanks, a lot.)

Those taking part in the musical program were as follows: Mrs. Ralph Jackson, Westerdale (song); Miss Joyce Jackson (songs); Mr. Jack Robertson, Westcott (comic songs); Sid Summers (song and recitation); Mr. R. Honey (comic recitations); Lester Krebs (songs); Irv Farrant (song); Francis Jackson, Roger Radford, Olga Dupont and Ethel Landeen (songs). Mr. Harold Pemberton, Calgary, was chairman for the program and floor-manager for the dance.

The gratifying sum of $92.35, besides a load of vegetables, was realized through the efforts of the sale and program, and the school trustees thank Mr. F. Leeson, who kindly donated the calf as the main part of the sale, also Mr. Billy Brown and Albert Krebs, who donated their services in playing the dance music. The trustees also thank everyone including all those who took an active part, everyone who donated to the affair and everyone who attended. So it anyone who did their part has been overlooked in the bustle and excitement please take our thanks now.

Mr. Wm. Morton was the winner of the calf with ticket No. 69. Master Lester Krebs won 1st prize in selling tickets on the calf with Winnie Jackson winning 2nd prize. — Contributed.

RUGBY NOTES

With an attendance of sixteen,
Rugby W.I. held its April meeting at the home of Mrs. E. B. Parker.
After a short business session, Current Events were given by Mrs.
A. Hogg. An excellent paper on "Canadianization" was then read by Mrs. Whiteside, and a lively discussion on this topic followed. A contest, in which honors went to Mrs. Farrant, concluded the afternoon's program. The National Anthem was sung and lunch was served. The May meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Farrant, with "Canadian Industries" the topic for the afternoon.

The Cheer-Up Club closed its winter season with a programme and dance on the evening of April 2nd. Two short plays were given by members of the Club who are much to be congratulated on the manner in which they acted their various parts. The audience was kept in a roar of laughter from start to finish over the "Monkey Shines." We would like to know if Roscoe Wright has recovered his concentration and if Percival has his Hay Fever cured. What wonderful Serum did the Dr. have in that bottle, where did Adam learn all his philosophy and did Philip Tabb get all the carbon scraped off his lungs. Joe needs a new pair of overalls rather badly. We also trust that the matrimonial troubles of Katie and Timothy are ended in their New Jersey home without the use of the rolling pin and that the Policeman will make no more mistakes. Various musical and vocal selections rounded out a most successful evening. After supper the floor was cleared and dancing followed till the night was very far spent. Halliday's Orchestra furnished the music.

Among those attending the bull sale in Calgary the following were seen: our district Messrs. C.
Brown, J. Hughes, J. McDougall,
R. McFarlane, J. Hoesgood and Douglas Hoesgood. We hear that Hughes Bros. made very satisfactory prices for their bulls. J. Mc-Dougall brought back a good shorthorn bull and J. Hoesgood purchased a Collicut bull, also a young Clyde Stallion from the E. P.
Ranch.

WEDDING

HIGH-NASADYK

A quiet wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Nasadyk of Crossfield, Alta. on March 20th, 1934, when their only daughter,
Pauline, became the bride of Mr.
Clayton High.

The bride, dressed in white georgette, with a beautiful veil and carrying a bouquet of roses, entered the room on the arm of her father, while the Fleming brothers, cousins of the groom, played the Wedding March.

The couple were attended by Miss Bernice Gordon, Calgary, in pale blue satin, and carrying pink cartunions; and Mr. Alfred High, the groom's brother. The ceremony was performed by Rev. C. J. Hallman, Didsbury, in the presence of about 35 guests.

A beautiful dinner was served after the ceremony.
The happy couple will make their home near Crossfield. We extend best wishes.

SYNOPSIS

Camilla Hoyt and Peter Anson, young and in love, marry secretly, deciding to live their own lives apart until Peter is able to provide for her. Peter is a young, struggling sculptor trying to win a competition for a scholarship abroad and Camilla is the adopted daughter of a wealthy family. She is not to inherit money when she comes of age and so is studying commercial art. When the time of founding an agency boy. Others in the story are Avis Werth, another wealthy girl who is trying to win Peter, Sylvia Todd, Peter's model, and Gus Matson, his former roommate with whom she quarrelled. At a party at an exclusive club Peter entertains Camilla's guests with impersonations. When the rest of the members of the party go to a cabaret to continue the party, Peter and Camilla slip off to the beach by themselves and fall asleep on the sand. When they awake it is early morning and Avis and another boy are standing near them. This makes it necessary for Camilla to announce before the party that she and Peter are married. Avis is stunned and Camilla's mother likewise. Bowman and Weeks, an advertising agency where Camilla has admitted some of her work, send for her and tell her they have a new account and need her services. The usual treatment of juvenile art. To Camilla's surprise she learns that the account is that of her father's company, which has decided on an extensive campaign to bolster up lagging business. After a conference with Mr. Bowman, Camilla decides to attempt the work. The critics were enthusiastic about her work, and Mr. Weeks offered her a salary of $5000 a week to start and a prospect of having it doubled. She goes to keep a dinner engagement with Peter. She tells Peter of her good fortune in securing employment. Mrs. Hoyt is also informed that Camilla has obtained work and is going to leave the Hoyt household.

CHAPTER XXXIV

Peter was taking the stairs two at a time, intent upon returning to his work for the afternoon when he looked up to see a girl unlocking the door across the hall from his own. To his neighbor was a girl. His first intention was to ignore her, but curiosity prompted a second glance, and he found himself face to face with Avis Werth. He had not seen her since the Hoyt party at the club.

"Hello, Peter," she greeted him coolly, as if she had been a tenant in Annex Hall for a long time.

"Why would you do you, Miss Werth?" he could not conceal his surprise. "So you are the new neighbor."

"Are you sorry?" she laughed at his consternation.

"Of course, not," he hastened to assure her. "What could be more pleasant than a friend for a neighbor? But I'm afraid you won't find me very sociable. I'm so busy these days I can't find time to eat."

"Working on your piece for the exhibit," Avis observed with an eager concern. "How does it go? I'm dying to see it."

He ignored that. "But why the outfit?" he indicated her spacious studio apartment.

She sneaked a peering expression. "Is that nice of you? Can't I take art seriously as well as you can?"

"I took this place because I never can accomplish anything at home. Oceans of room, but no one will take me seriously or respect my privacy. I can't come here to work. As for being sociable, I shouldn't trouble you because I'll be just as busy as you are. So there! Only," her eyes were lowered for a moment and they met his wistfully, "here's an idea there is one way we both might save some time. I am going to have a salad for mornings and you can run in here for a bit of breakfast or lunch, often. That will save some of your precious time that you can't spare to look up a restaurant." Her tone was practical and casual, as if she were re-adjusting the computation of time by the calendar and clock, to accommodate him, and yet doing nothing unusual.

"I'm grateful tolerantly. I'm afraid it wouldn't work out that way. We'd get to talking and take two hours out instead of a few minutes. Thanks, though, for your neighborly thoughtfulness." He was unlocking his door, but Avis made no move about to enter her own rooms. He pushed his door open and she sauntered across the hall.

"Just let me have one peek, Peter," her voice called. "I'll not say a word to anyone about your work. Besides, I want to see your rooms. I only had a glimpse of them once before."

"There's only one," he replied shortly. "Nothing to see, but come in if you wish. You know, art is more than an effort with me—it's my work."

They were in the room now. He lit the lamp standing open. "Oh, it's beautiful," Avis exclaimed. She moved over to the clay figure on the turntable and stood gazing at it with genuine admiration. Finally, she said softly, "Peter, it's marvelous. The prize is already yours."

He laughed a confused denial of her praise, pleas! nevertheless.

"It's rather good, I guess, but I'm not thinking of the prize. Now that it is almost finished, I am much more interested in the work itself. I think I might be able to sell it for a pretty good price if I do it in marble, in fresh tones, perhaps." He was gazing at the figure with a fond and critical eye, as a parent regards his flesh and blood child. Avis might not have been present, for all he was saying her or thinking about her. She came around the room for something to deflect his attention from the clay figure on the stand. Her eye glimpsed a group of framed sketches on the wall. "What beautiful etchings! You did those, too, Peter?"

"You're a genius!" she exclaimed. "I admired those. They gave them to me." He seized Avis for a moment. She had drawn his attention from a clay figure, only to concentrate it upon Camilla. She managed to ask calmly, "Does she come here to see you often?"

"Not as often as I wish she would. But Camilla won't interfere with my work, she declares. So I have to be grateful for that. She's a good little person. When a thing has to be done, she helps in doing it right. It has first place until it is finished."

Camilla, she thought, does not ever take her mind off of work except Camilla will work? She feigned an incredulous surprise at his remark. "I should think nothing would place her in a position of a husband." She shrugged. "But, then, all people aren't alike. Love and marriage mean so little to some girls. No wonder men can't understand them. They don't all know that a man needs lots of love and sympathy and comforting to make him happy and keep him so," she observed wistfully and with a tone of regret for all the wrecked marriages of such negligent wives.

"What do you know about it?" Peter only seemed to be amused. He did not attempt to defend Camilla.

"Some women are wiser by instinct. They don't have to be married to understand men," she still maintained that sober, impersonal air of rare wisdom. Then she roused suddenly and said brightly, "But you haven't seen my place. It is just finished and I'm rather proud of it."

"Please tell me if it looks right." She had caught his hand as if to lead him across the hall.

Peter drew away. "I'm sorry. I'll have to endure the suspense of waiting until later to see your place. I can't go in now. Every minute and I've got to get to work. I told you I can't be a good neighbor, even."

"Then do come over this evening," she urged hospitably. "Any time you have a minute to relax, drop in. You can't wait a minute."

"But I might interrupt your work. I thought you came here for seclusion," he reminded her.

Avis lifted her hands eloquently. "One hour every day without an interruption would seem like a century to me. I can't go out to school and to a studio. Besides, even if I do want to work, I can't take it that seriously. I expect to throw a lot of parties—studio stuff, you know. I'm giving a housewarming soon and you'll have to take time out to be there, don't you forget."

"That's all right," she added as an afterthought.

There were footsteps outside, tapping on the stairs and along the hall, and presently Sylvia stood in the doorway. "Hello," she said briefly, after a glance at Avis without recognition.

"Here she is!" Peter exclaimed with obvious relief. "My model, Miss Todd. Miss Werth. You may be needing a good model yourself. Now prospect," he advised Sylvia, already busy with arranging his materials.

"Perhaps I can use you sometime," Avis told Sylvia with a patronizing air. "Well, then, I'll run along and let you two get to work. Bye, Peter," she smiled friendly, and sauntered out.

"The new neighbor turned out to be an old friend," Peter explained coolly.

"That's nice," observed Sylvia.

"I don't know that it is so nice," he contradicted. "There is no worse nuisance in the world for a serious artist than a make-believe one who doesn't have to work, but maintains a studio just for effect and a place to entertain. It would be just my luck to get such a neighbor when I am the busiest. I'm afraid she's going to be a pest."

"You don't sound very crazy about her," Sylvia ventured carelessly.

"She's nothing to me," Peter shrugged. "I said she was a friend. She isn't even that—merely an acquaintance. One of the class at National. It's all the same to me if I never see her again. Fact is, I always made it a point to steer clear of her when I could. Now she lives across the hall and suggests that I run in to have tea with her," he grimaced.

Sylvia laughed with genuine amusement, knowing more about the situation than he was aware. Almost, she was tempted to warn him of Avis' intentions for her sympathies really were with Peter. But her youthfully acquired sophistication maintained that any man could take care of himself. The chances were ninety-nine to one that any woman got the worst of an affair with any man. This happened to be a rare case in which she wished the man luck, chiefly because he was not the aggressor.

Peter's prognostications proved correct about Avis becoming a nuisance. It was only the second day after their first meeting in the hall, when he had made no attempt to respond to her hospitable suggestion to drop in any minute, that she knocked on his door about noon, and to his curt "Come in," opened it with a striking sophistication and air of about her work so early in the morning. Then I guessed it right—you are hungry. I just ran across to invite you over to lunch-breakfast. Tilly has made hot biscuits fast with melt in your mouth. Not a man living could resist that."

She was partly provocative and informal in scarlet satin pajamas embroidered with gold dragons and Oriental characters that no Oriental ever would have recognized or deciphered. But they added their touch of subtle charm and mystery. Her long, narrowly plucked eyebrows that slanted downward at her temples contributed to that effect.

If one analyzed her features according to relation and measurement, Avis was not beautiful, but there was a striking sophistication and allure about her that were a combination of beauty and a selfish assumption that whatever she desired was hers.

Peter rubbed his day from his fingers, irresolutely.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michaels

THE SKEEL

The driving rain has ceased with a cluck. The sky is leaden-blue as day slips into night. No bloom in all the scene to catch the eye.

Some slim, flame-flowers, scintillate flames and white.

That in the glowing hearthstone leap and start.

In such an hour at a dull day's close A name denied my lips slips in my noise.

And suddenly the world is touched with rose!

The old enchantment weaves its starry spell.

In seasons when my spirit is most sure.

A clear, unspoken name and all is well.

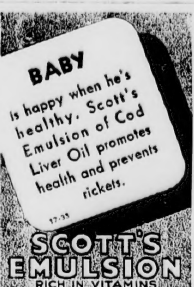

A name with power to wake the past in me.

In moment that would also be wholly alone.

A name which brings your fragrant presence near!

Eat More Bread

"If everybody will eat three extra slices of bread at every meal, it will save the country from a disastrous overproduction of wheat." Dean Clark, secretary of the Society of Elevator Superintendents and Operators of North America, said at a convention in New York. Such a policy, he said, will increase wheat consumption 100,000,000 bushels a year.

Little Helps For This Week

"Beloved, think it not strange concerning the fiery trial which is to try you, as though some strange thing happened unto you, but rejoice inasmuch as you are partakers of Christ's sufferings." 1 Peter 4:12-13

We take with solemn thankfulness Our burden up, nor ask it less, And count it joy that even we May suffer, serve, or wait for These Whose will be done.

—J. G. Wainwright.

Receive every inward and outward trouble, every disappointment, temptation, darkness and desolation with both thy hands as a true opportunity and blessed occasion of giving to self, and entering into a fuller fellowship with thy self-denying, suffering Saviour. Look at no inward or outward trouble with any other thought, and then every kind of trial and distress will become the blessed day of thy prosperity. That state is best which exercises the highest faith in, and fullest resignation to God.—Wm. Law.

Medical Insurance Plan

Alberta Commission Investigates Possibilities of State Medical Service

An ultimate $10,000,000 municipalized medical insurance scheme for the province is recommended in a report tabled in the Alberta legislature by a commission named in 1932 to investigate the possibilities of a general medical insurance plan. For frontier districts the commission recommends a state subsidized doctor who would be assisted by a nurse. In some of these sections a nurse might suffice, the report says, with a travelling clinic available for minor surgery.

The body also reported that it is "of the opinion that the existing schedules of fees for surgical and specialized services is too high."

For the present the commission recommends an expansion of the Alberta public health programme, now especially in the control of tuberculosis, extension of public health nursing service, and a re-establishment of a travelling clinic service for those parts of the provinces where a similar service is not provided.

It also recommends that the minister of health be given statutory authority to constitute areas as full-time health districts, and to determine what proportion of the cost of administration shall be borne locally and what share by the province.

The radio has a great advantage over the political meeting in that the smallness of the audience can't influence the speaker's enthusiasm.

Messrs. A. Brusso, Percy Saunders, W. Archer, Fred Moyle and C. H. Adshew were among those who attended the Douglas meeting at Calgary on Saturday evening.

Bill Requires Lights on All Road Vehicles

Lights or reflectors on all horse-drawn or other vehicles operating on main or secondary highways are required, in a bill to amend the Vehicles and Highway Traffic Act, 1924, which has been introduced in the legislature.

The government, in bringing in this regulation, meets a demand voiced by motor associations in this province for several years. A resolution making this request also was passed at the last annual convention of the C.F.A.

The regulation as to other than motor vehicles says that "lights must be visible for at least 100 feet from the front and from behind the vehicle." In the alternative, "head and rear reflectors shall be affixed to the machine. These must be of a type approved by the lieutenant-governor-in-council."

Whether the vehicles are stationary or in motion on highways, lights or reflectors must be displayed. The new bill also makes provision for reflectors on trailers.

Power is given the lieutenant-governor-in-council to require registration of trailers, which are to carry a number-plate on the rear.

Sections, Main Highway To Be Closed.

Commencing Wednesday morning (yesterday) and continuing until the night of April 25th, the Edmonton-Calgary highway, from this city to Ponoka, and from Red Deer south to Crossfield, will be closed to all bus and truck traffic, according to an order issued by the provincial public works department Tuesday.

Messrs. T. Johnson and C. E. Heiber returned Sunday from their vacation at the coast, bringing with them a splendid coat of tan. They spent most of the time at Victoria, but spent a day visiting Mr. and Mrs. Jim Reed, Didsbury old timers. Clint says that the Victoria gulf course are slightly better than the Didsbury course.

About forty friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James Adam on Tuesday evening of last week, the occasion being a farewell party to Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Webster and family before leaving for their new home at Breton, Alta. The evening was spent in games and music, after which lunch was served. On behalf of the neighbors Mr. Ezra Thede presented Mr. and Mrs. Webster with a silver and pyrex casserole and a silver cake plate, for which Mr. and Mrs. Webster expressed their thanks. Following this the friends and neighbors departed for their homes, wishing Mr. and Mrs. Webster every success in their new home. Those present from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. H. Huntley and two sons, of the Blackie district.
